Global Leader in Sustainable Packaging Solutions

about us

Bfooding Bio: Leading the Way in Sustainable Food Packaging

The Bfooding.bio range of biodegradable tableware and takeaway packaging was developed to align with Europe's stringent packaging and waste disposal regulations. Designed for sustainability and high performance, Bfooding products provide food service businesses with eco-friendly alternatives that meet the demands of an evolving global market.

A Leader in Compostable Food Packaging

Today, Bfooding stands as one of the largest stockists of 100% compostable food service products in Southeast Asia, offering a wide range of solutions that cater to the needs of environmentally conscious businesses. From biodegradable tableware to plant-based takeaway containers, Bfooding ensures that each product is made with sustainability at its core.

Our Commitment to the Circular Economy

Bfooding is proudly owned by Sphere Group (France), a leader in sustainable packaging solutions. The brand is committed to reducing environmental impact through:

Minimizing Virgin Fossil Plastic Use – Replacing conventional plastics with recycled materials derived from the circular economy.

Developing Bio-Compostable Materials – Innovating with materials that decompose naturally, reducing long-term waste.

Utilizing Bio-Sourced, Recyclable Raw Materials – Ensuring all materials are sourced responsibly and designed for reuse or composting.

Through these initiatives, Bfooding is actively shaping the future of sustainable food packaging, helping businesses and consumers transition toward a greener planet.

EatWare Bamboo Fiber & FSC Bamboo Paper

Sustainable, Renewable, and Versatile Materials

Bamboo Fiber and FSC Bamboo Paper are cutting-edge materials revolutionizing the foodservice and packaging industries. Made from fast-growing bamboo, these materials are 100% biodegradable, renewable, and certified by the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC). They offer an eco-friendly alternative to traditional paper and plastic-based products, delivering exceptional performance while protecting the planet.

Recognized for their versatility, Bamboo Fiber and FSC Bamboo Paper can be molded into various shapes and sizes, making them ideal for food packaging, trays, and more. With their natural strength and environmental benefits, these materials align with the global push toward sustainable solutions.

Key Benefits

Renewable Resources

Bamboo grows 30x faster than trees and does not require replanting after harvest, making it a highly renewable material.

Durable and Versatile

Naturally strong and lightweight, bamboo fiber and paper are perfect for foodservice products such as trays, bowls, and containers.

Certified Sustainability

FSC certification guarantees that bamboo paper products are responsibly sourced, ensuring sustainable forest management.

Why Choose Bamboo Fiber and FSC Bamboo Paper?

Bamboo products are naturally water- and grease-resistant, making them ideal for food packaging without the need for harmful chemical treatments like PFAS. These materials decompose naturally in composting environments, contributing to a circular economy. By choosing bamboo-based solutions, businesses can reduce their environmental footprint and offer sustainable alternatives to consumers.

Introducing Home Compostable

Home compostable materials are specifically designed to break down naturally in a home composting environment. These materials decompose into organic matter under standard home composting conditions, such as in a backyard compost bin, typically within 6-12 months. To qualify as home compostable, these products must adhere to certain certifications like TUV Austria or AS 5810, ensuring they meet strict environmental standards.

Key Benefits

Reduces landfill waste

Home compostable products help minimize methane emissions by reducing waste sent to landfills.

Encourages sustainable waste management

Transforms waste into nutrient-rich compost for plants and gardens.

Eco-Friendly Alternative

A sustainable substitute for traditional plastics, leaving no harmful residues.

Home compostable solutions are especially valuable in food packaging, utensils, and other disposable items, aligning with growing consumer demand for sustainable products. By choosing home compostable materials, individuals and businesses contribute to a circular economy, where resources are reused and waste is minimized, promoting a healthier planet for future generations.

What is AC Coating

A Sustainable Barrier for Grease and Oil Resistance

AC Coating is a revolutionary plant-based alternative developed to provide excellent grease and oil resistance for fiber-based foodservice products.

With its biodegradable and compostable properties, AC Coating offers a sustainable solution without relying on harmful chemicals like PFAS. This innovative technology ensures high performance while aligning with environmental and regulatory standards.

AC Coating has been widely adopted across various food packaging products, delivering effective results in temperature-intensive environments. Certified for compostability, it is an eco-friendly barrier that does not compromise on quality or sustainability.

Key Benefits

Sustainable Ingredients

Made from renewable plant-based materials with no added PFAS or harmful chemicals.

High Performance

Provides superior oil and grease resistance, even at temperatures up to 200°F / 95°C.

Compostable

Fully meets international compostability standards, leaving no harmful residues.

Why Choose AC Coating?

PFAS chemicals, commonly used for oil resistance in molded fiber products, are being increasingly banned worldwide due to their harmful environmental and health impacts. AC Coating addresses these bans by offering a safe and sustainable solution. It is designed for modern foodservice packaging needs, ensuring products remain grease-resistant, compostable, and compliant with upcoming regulations.

For more details, reach out to your sales or account manager. Together, let's drive sustainability forward with AC Coating.
